(sigh) JUNE! If you're barking your silly head off about another squirrel, we're going to go home and have WORDS, ya hear me?

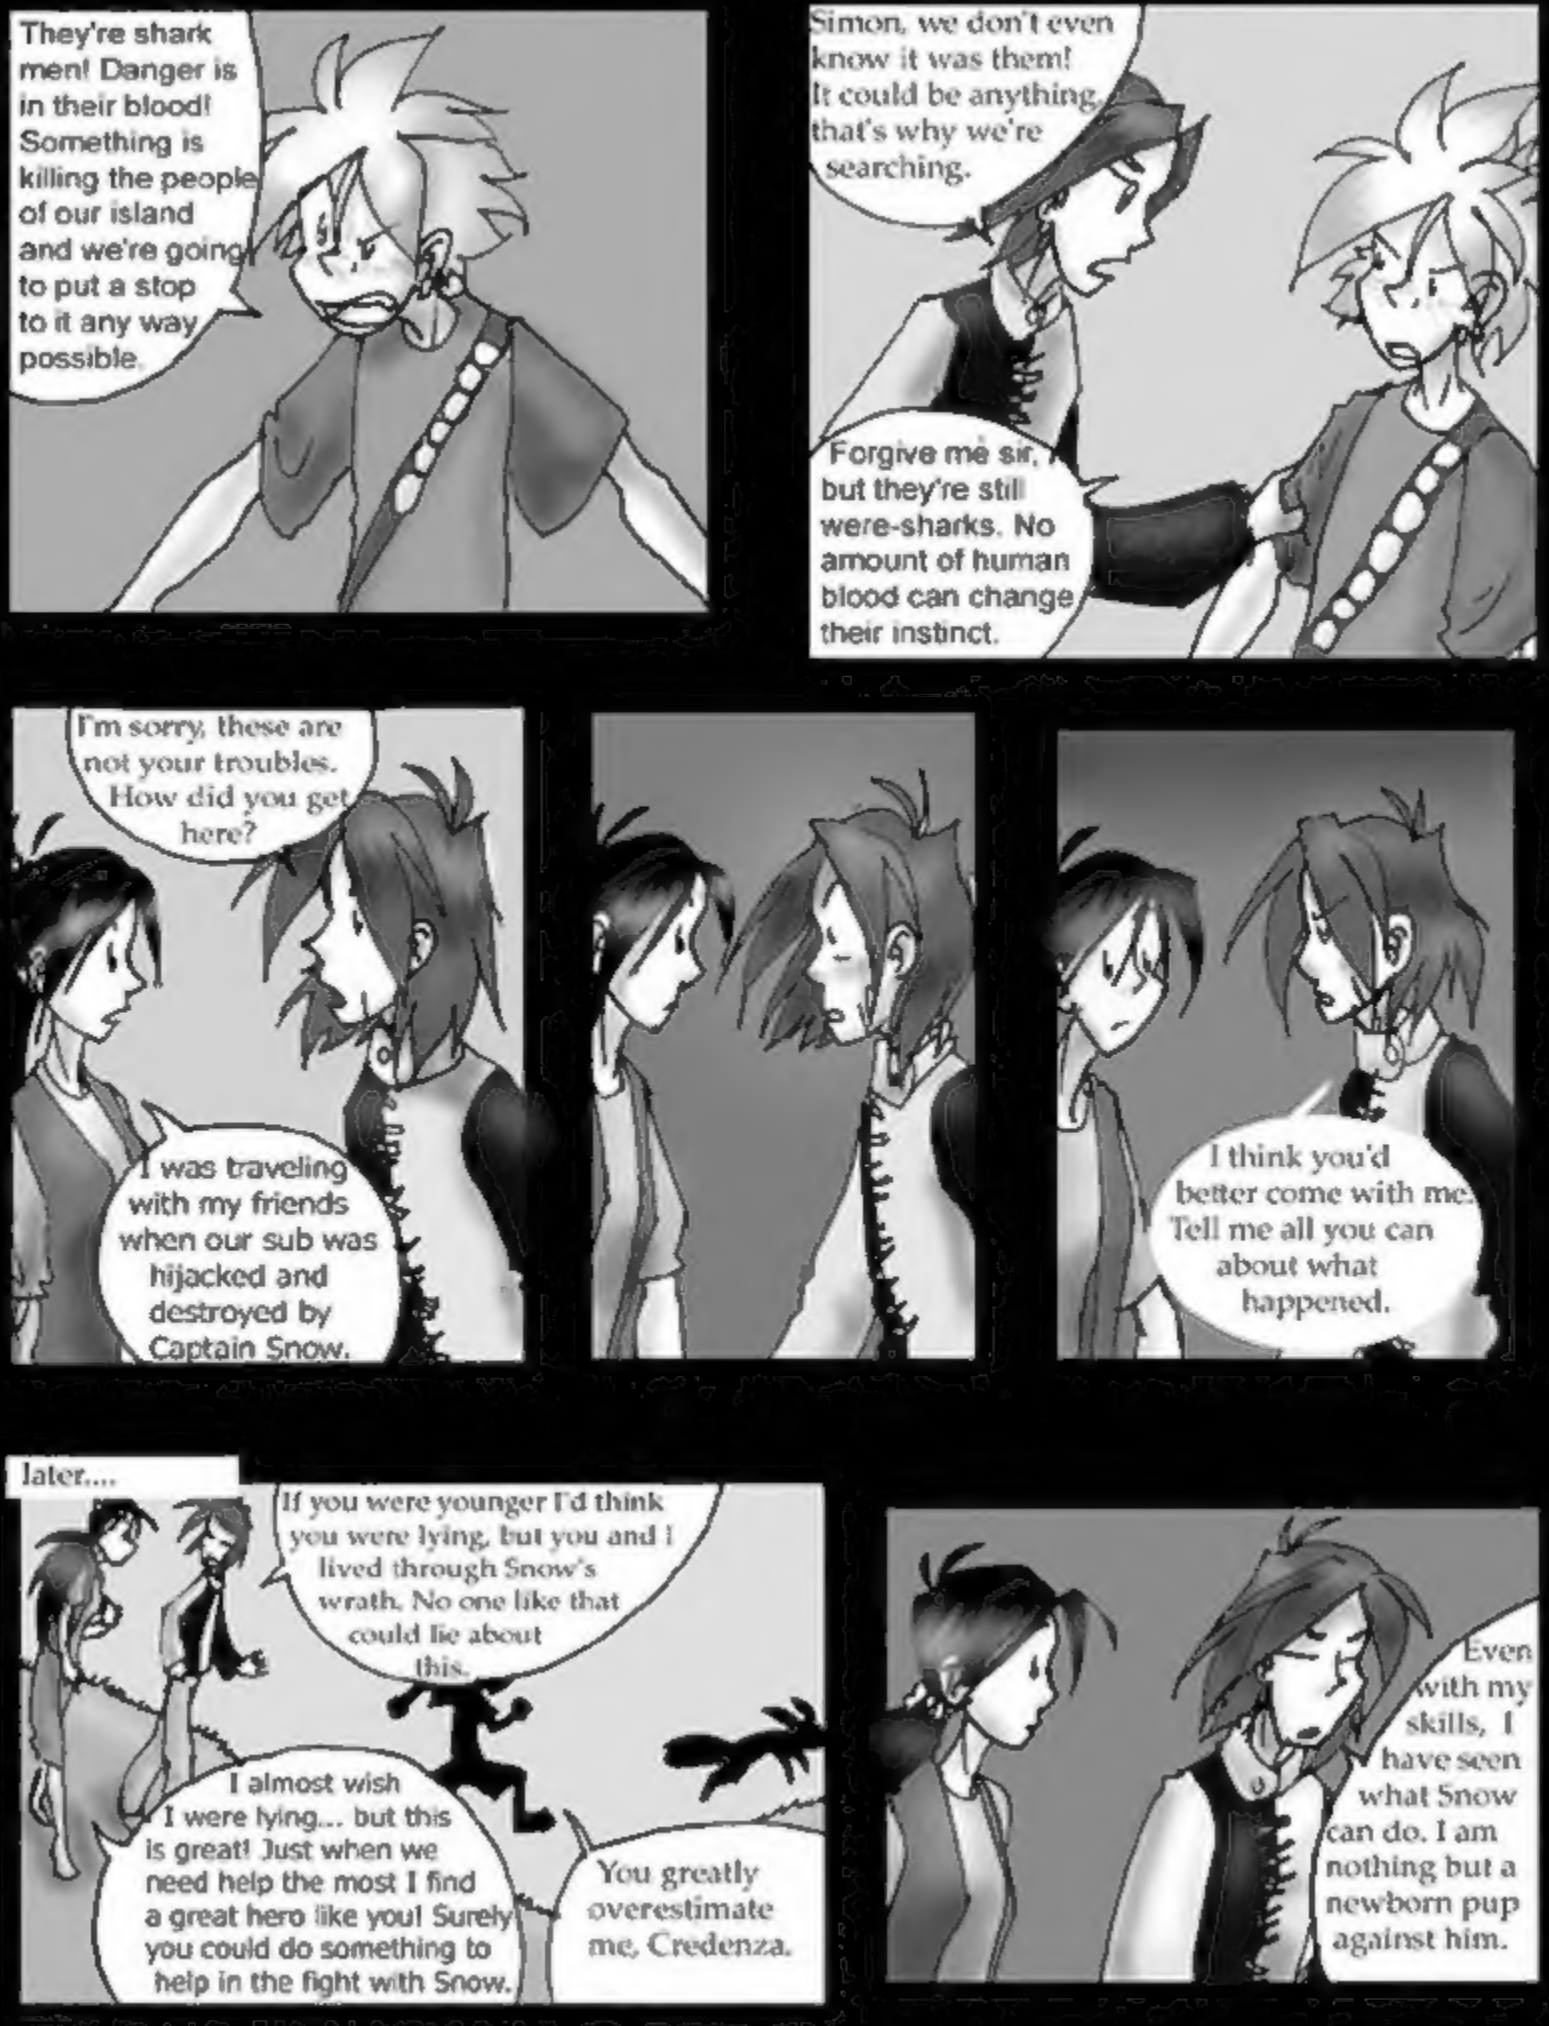
Hey boss! I think she actually treed something this time.
ORO!
ORO!

This is the last one Simon, my legs are killing me. We've been looking all day for them.

I'm sorry sir. June's been trying her best, honestly she has.
I don't doubt that. We've caught every squirrel from Headside to Tailside of Coin Island, but no shark-men.
Orroo!
We'll never catch anything at this rate.

Ummm... excuse me?
ORO!

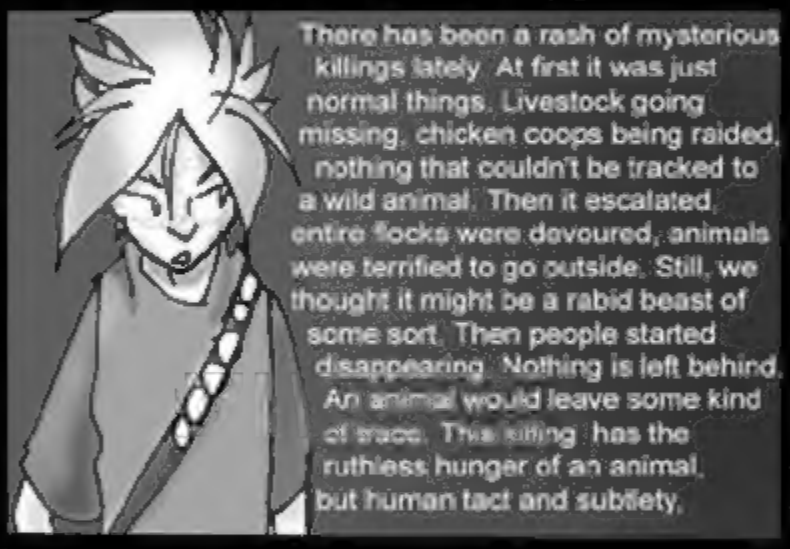
You don't look like evil madmen, but I've been wrong before.
Hallelujah! It's raining women!
SMACK!
Sorry, sir...
Excuse me lady, but who are you? I know everyone on this island, and I'm sure I don't remember your face.
I'm Credenza Black, and I'm not coming down until I know who you are exactly.
You definitely aren't from around here. I am Willium Drake, Hunter of demons, and the protector of Coin Island.
Willium Drake? THE Drake? The man who slew the army of evil, rabid flamingoes?
That would be me, yes.
Willium Drake, who wields the deck of magical playing cards?
That's me.
Willium Drake, who sank his father's talking flying machine?
...Yes, that was me too.
From what I heard, the machine had it coming. So what are you doing out here? Flamingo hunting?
Actually, I am searching for two young sharkmen. They're twins with redhair and sharp teeth.
Oh, them! They saved me. I was having lunch with them.
ARE YOU NUTS!? Do you have any idea how DANGEROUS those guys are!? Who knows what they might have done to you if we hadn't shown up!
They were perfectly nice. They didn't seem that dangerous.



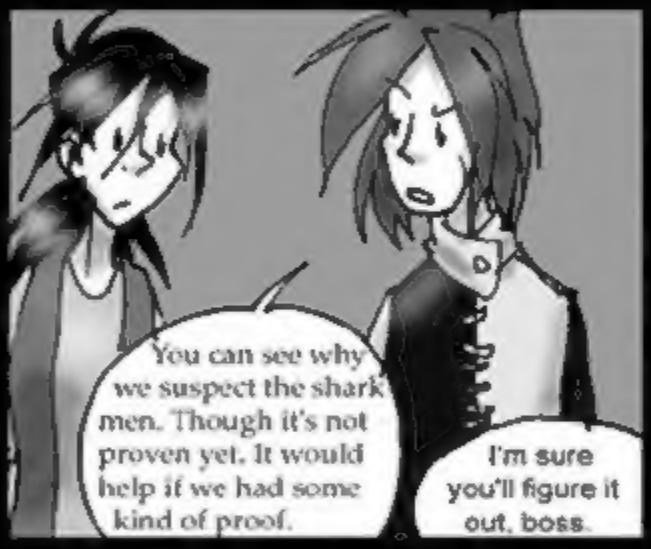
They're shark men! Danger is in their blood! Something is killing the people of our island and we're going to put a stop to it any way possible.
Simon, we don't even know it was them! It could be anything, that's why we're searching.
Forgive me sir, but they're still were-sharks. No amount of human blood can change their instinct.
I'm sorry, these are not your troubles. How did you get here?
I was traveling with my friends when our sub was hijacked and destroyed by Captain Snow.
I think you'd better come with me. Tell me all you can about what happened.
later....
If you were younger I'd think you were lying, but you and I lived through Snow's wrath. No one like that could lie about this.
I almost wish I were lying... but this is great! Just when we need help the most I find a great hero like you! Surely you could do something to help in the fight with Snow.
You greatly overestimate me, Credenza.
Even with my skills, I have seen what Snow can do. I am nothing but a newborn pup against him.

Don't talk like that boss! You're the greatest Hunter of our time!

Willium has helped our village through disaster after disaster, always keeping his cool. He'll get us through this one.
What exactly is going on? What disaster?

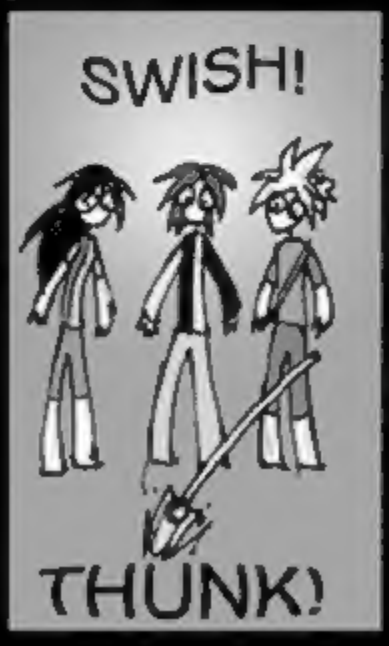


There has been a rash of mysterious killings lately. At first it was just normal things. Livestock going missing, chicken coops being raided, nothing that couldn't be tracked to a wild animal. Then it escalated, entire flocks were devoured, animals were terrified to go outside. Still, we thought it might be a rabid beast of some sort. Then people started disappearing. Nothing is left behind. An animal would leave some kind of trace. This killing has the ruthless hunger of an animal, but human tact and subtlety.



You can see why we suspect the shark men. Though it's not proven yet. It would help if we had some kind of proof.
I'm sure you'll figure it out, boss.

Not everyone thinks as highly of me as Simon does.
It stuns me that anyone could dislike the boss.



SWISH!
THUNK!

Well, well, look what the cat coughed up.
Nim!

Willium, even considering your lack of skills, I'd expect you to be focusing on protecting the island. Instead I find your flirting with another girl
Personally I think you and the flamingoes made a better pair. At least they had fashion sense.

Nim, much as I appreciate your childish jabs at my personal life, MUST we get others involved? I'd hate to have to mention your resemblance to a natural disaster and open old wounds.
My what to a....??? HEY! WAIT A MINUTE!

Uneducated slanderer!
Stuck up pig!
Did I miss something?
FOUL...foul... MENDICANT!
(sigh)
HOW DARE YOU!

Willum has been trained all his life how to be a Hunter. He went through a lot of rigamarole to get here.
Nim, on the other hand, just up and decided to become a demon hunter one day.

She thinks the boss is too traditional, stuck up, and arrogant.
Willium thinks Nim doesn't take her job very seriously, and that she's not properly trained

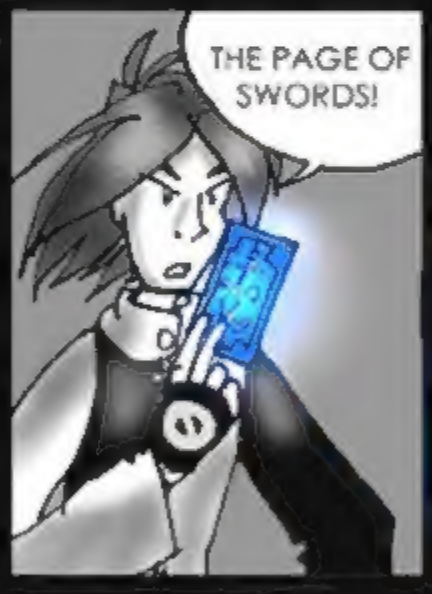
They find a reason to fight about three times a day.
If they didn't hate each other so much, I'd think they enjoyed bickering.

You think just because I am a woman I cannot be your equal?!

No, you cannot be my equal because I have trained my whole life to do what you try to accomplish in a day!
You disgust me.
I despise you.

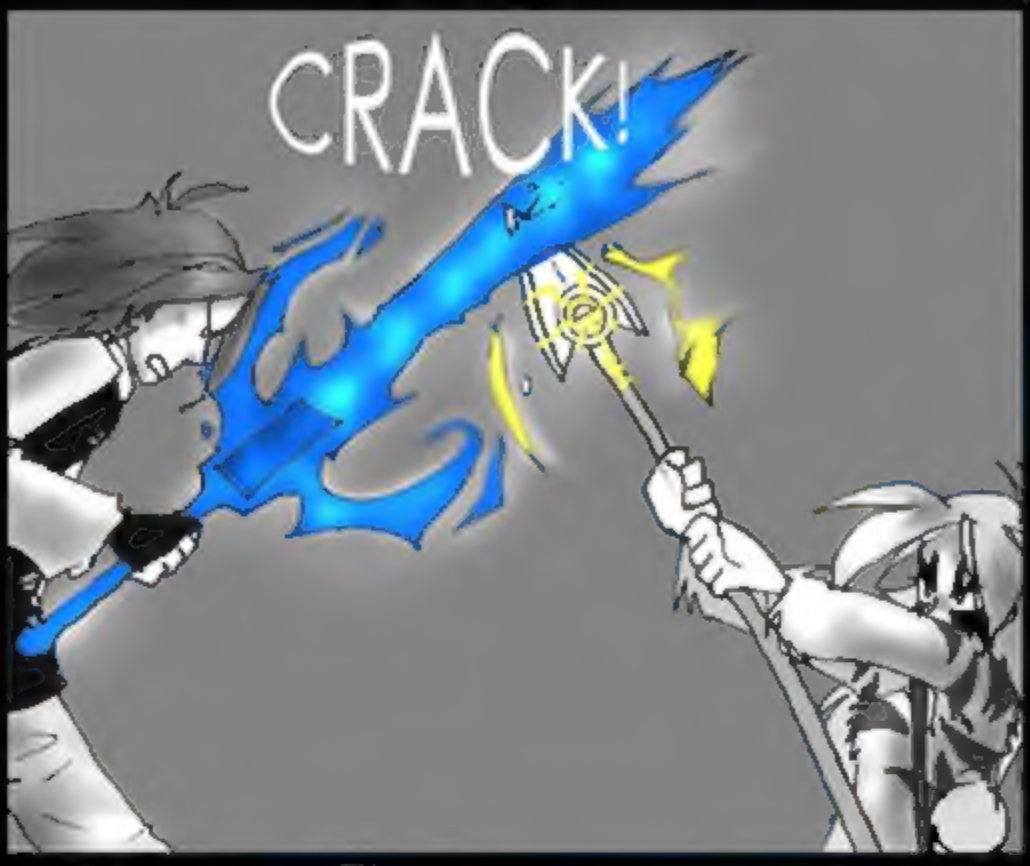
SWISH!

Flick



THE PAGE OF SWORDS!

KRE-SHASH!



CRACK!

Boss!
SHOVE!

Tumble
Roll
Kick
Ka-thump
Ka-thump
Squabble
Ka-thump

If I wasn't a decent person I'd duel you to the death right now!
You beat me? Nothing would surprise me more.

THUMP!

Uhhh... boss?

Are you feeling okay, boss?
Don't mind us.

Oh, ha ha, you two know perfectly well, NOTHING HAPPENED!

SOCK!

RATTLE FLUTTER
Boss!

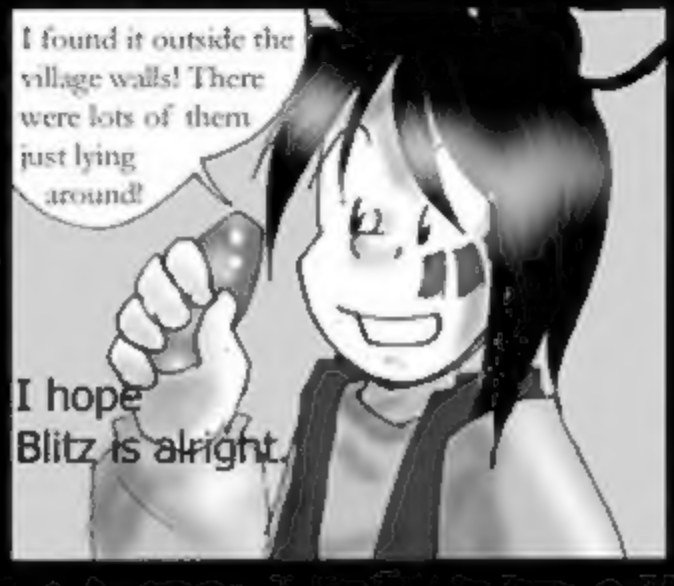
I'm sorry you had to see that. We demon hunters do not get along very well as a rule.
Well, I thought you guys were very friendly.
You will never speak of this again.
Hey boss! We're home!
HEADSIDE
I brought you here because I think I have some info that could help your cause.
Anything that would give me an advantage against Snow is a big help.
Well, this is it. Not much, but it's home.
Wow!
Welcome to Headside.

Wow! This place is huge!
Actually, we're a pretty small town.
Sorry, it's been a while since I've been to a real town.
We're crowded at the moment because of the problems with this "creature."

Mr.Drake! I'm glad you're back.
Servil, how goes the moving?
So good so far, sir.

???NOODLEMAN???
EAT AT TALKING SKULL INN
Almost everyone has been moved inside the city walls.
Good. It'll be easier for me to know everyone is safe while I track this thing down.
Shiney!

That boy... for a second I thought he was Blitz.
Check out this cool rock I found.
Cool!



I found it outside the village walls! There were lots of them just lying around!
I hope Blitz is alright.